1998 NDHSAA CLASS B GIRLS BASKETBALL STATE CHAMPIONS VELVA AGGIES

Back Row: Head Coach David Peterson, Jessie Slinde, Crystal Gossen, Malinda Abel, Chelsea Hausauer, Stephanie Passa, Leah Mehlhoff, Asst. Coach Kim Mehlhoff
Middle Row: Erica Olson, Lisa Dick, Angie Gjellstad, Jennifer Miller, Sara Rist, Kayla Effert, Mandy Gaugler, Ashley Fox

In 1998 the Velva Aggies girls basketball team did something no other team in the program's history had ever done – qualify for a state tournament. The 1998 NDHSAA Class B Girls Basketball State Tournament would be played in Minot – only 20 miles from Velva, but an early winter storm just prior to the tournament forced even the Aggies to expediate their travel plans to the Magic City.

Minot Police and North Dakota Highway Patrol met the Aggies' team bus at the Highway and lifted the "No Travel Gate" to let them into the city limits. Once in Minot the Aggies' focus was solely on making their first trip to state a meaningful one punctuated by a championship.

Velva entered state undefeated at 25-0. The Aggies' opponent in the quarterfinals was May-Port-CG, who like Velva played aggressive defense. The Patriots would hold the Aggies well below their 61 points per game average as the game would go to overtime, however, Velva emerged victorious 45-42.

The Aggies were led by the trio of Jessie Slinde, Chelsea Hausauer and Jennifer Miller who averaged double figures in scoring during the 1998 season. Slinde would be a finalist for the NDAPSSA Miss Basketball Award in 1998 and Hausauer would be an NDAPSSA Miss Basketball finalist in 2000 during her senior season.

In the semifinals, Velva would meet Gackle-Streeter. A key 18-0 run in the second quarter put the Aggies in control of the game early and eventually the squad picked up the 58-34 victory. The team that had spent the entire season defining what it meant to play "AGGIE BASKETBALL" was now only one win away from a state championship. Velva's opponent in the state championship game was Watford City.

Against the Wolves, Velva flexed its offensive might and cruised to a 68-50 win to complete the undefeated season at 28-0 and bring home a state championship trophy. Tournament MVP honors went to Jennifer Miller. Slinde and Hausauer joined Miller on the All-Tournament team.

Aggies head coach David Peterson earned NDHSCA Class B Girls Basketball Coach of the Year honors following the tournament.

The 1998 undefeated girls basketball season remains one of Velva High School's most revered athletic team achievements.
